

Stephanie Clausen, Ph.D.

With a passion for positive psychology and change management, Ms. Clausen has helped transform various companies within retail and the financial services sector for 15 years. While appreciating that the same change management principles followed inside organizations could redirect both personal and professional lives, Stephanie began independent corporate and executive coaching while teaching at a local university in San Diego 6 years ago.

Stephanie is currently working with leadership at Point Loma Credit Union to disband organizational constraints and build a high-trust, high-performance culture within the Credit Union.

Ms. Clausen holds a BA in Social Psychology and a Ph.D. in Organization Development.